

In the Oil Fields*SINCLAIR CO. BUYS
EL DORADO STORAGE

The first sale of storage oil in the El Dorado storage field was reported yesterday when the Sinclair Oil & Refining corporation purchased the tank of C. J. Wrightman and J. H. Foster, who had a tank about 8,000 barrels in it. The tanks of the 52-barrel lot were sold at $1.00 and five others containing 10,000 barrels were announced as being marketed. This deal gives the Sinclair company a good lot of storage tanks to back its six-inch line of delivery built from El Dorado to Chicago.

LOOKS EVEN BETTER

The Tulsa oil company, Kemper and Spangler, No. 2 in 8-27-13, which started at a 1,600-barrel rate, is now producing 2,000 barrels a day. Winton and others No. 6 on the Skinker well several weeks ago and then quit because of lack of culture, was opened up again yesterday and looks as though something as good if not better than Cushing has been opened up in this County district.

Thrift—Thrift—Thrift

Economy and thrift are the parents of prosperity and happiness. We have always believed in thrift and have argued in its favor. Just at this time everything in favor of thrift is being done all over this country. Can you think of anything which exemplifies the true meaning of thrift more than home ownership? Home owning is security. It that never runs away. There is a feeling about home-ownership that is different to all others. Our business is to help you enjoy this thrift feeling by owning your own home. Some special bargains.
